DETAILED ACTION

Priority

Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior at are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over JP 57-190903 in view of Shirey (US# 4215767).

JP 57-190903 discloses an actuator comprising; a piston (6) slidably fitted into a casing (1); a lock mechanism (2) provided within the casing so as to automatically lock in response to forward movement of the piston (6) in order to mechanically lock the piston (6) at a forward position and unlock in response to a release control fluid pressure acting on the lock mechanism (2), the lock mechanism (2) comprising a lock piston (16) that is slidably fitted into the casing to the rear of the piston (6) so that the release control fluid pressure can act on the lock piston (16) toward the rear and a spring (22) provided in a compressed state between the lock piston (16) and the casing so as to exhibit a spring force that urges the piston ,(6) to move forward; a fluid pressure source; and fluid pressure control means for controlling a fluid pressure generated by the fluid pressure source so that the control fluid pressure and the release control fluid pressure can be obtained; an opening provided in a portion of the casing that the rear side of the lock piston (16) faces being closed by a detachable lid member (19), a tool connection part being provided in a rear portion of the lock piston (16), and the tool connection part enabling a tool (23) inserted through the opening to be detachably connected to the tool connection part. JP 57-190903 lacks the explicit disclosure of the actuator being used in a parking brake. Shirey discloses a similar actuator and further teaches its use in a parking brake environment. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to utilize the actuator of JP 57-190903 in a parking brake environment, as demonstrated by Shirey, to provide secure and controllable locking to parking brake applications, thereby increasing the usefullness of the device.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Halasy-Wimmer et al.
